How to Wrap the Great Kilt

Spread out the Full length of the plaid.

Leaving an arms length unpleated, begin making your pleats by hand and continue to an arm's length from the other end.

Pleats in the middle — unpleated at each end.

Fold the unpleated sides in a bit and slide your belt under.

Lie down on top. Fold the right unpleated end over the front of the body, then the left. Fasten your belt then stand up.

Now comes the fun and creative part. Half the plaid will be hanging down over the belt. The wearer can fashion a number of styles for the upper body. See the next page.
